

Dear MSM-participants,

The 3rd Munich Symposium on Motivation is approaching and we are all getting pretty excited. For now, we are pleased to present to you the program highlights and to ask you for the title of your talk, an abstract and a recent paper of yours (please read the details below).

Highlights

We will start from Wednesday (July, 18th) at 5 pm with a welcome reception and pre-dinner presentation from Hugo Kehr. On Thursday (July, 19th) we will hold our first session at the conference centre on the summit of mount Zugspitze. To get there, we will take the cog railway, which brings us directly to the conference facilities on the plateau. After that, we will take a cable-car to go to the summit of the Zugspitze. In the summit restaurant, we will enjoy a lunch menu and an amazing view over the Alps. We will also be able to walk over the border into Austria.

On Friday, (July, 20th) we will spend the afternoon taking an excursion to Linderhof Castle, the famous fairy-tale castle of King Ludwig II of Bavaria. This will give us plenty opportunity to discuss research in an informal setting and develop new ideas.

The evening will continue with a dinner at a picturesque Bavarian restaurant. Please let us know if you have particular dietary requirements.

Scientific Program

We are currently preparing the scientific program, which includes forming thematically congruent symposia for the sessions. We would kindly ask you to send us your title and an abstract (max. 200 words) of your presentation.

Additionally, please send us one of your key publications that are relevant to your presentation (in pdf format). We will upload them in a password-protected area of our MSM web page. If you want to download the other participants' papers, you may use the following link:

Username: msm

Password: download

Please make sure you send us your title, the abstract and the key publication by May 6th. Late changes can still be made to the electronic version after the deadline.

We would like to suggest that you commence making travel arrangements. Please let us know if we can assist you. You can find some details concerning travel directions from Munich airport to the conference venue on our website:

The MSM-Team is looking forward to receiving your contributions soon and to seeing you all in the summer.

Best wishes,

Hugo & Susanne
